OPEN INTERNATIONAL IDEAS COMPETITION:
A MUSEUM IN THE FUTURE ARCHAEOLOGICAL AND RIVER PARK OF SARCAPOS

The municipality of Villaputzu is organising an open international competition for the design of a museum and auxiliary spaces within an archaeological area, by converting two existing watering tanks and attached facilities. The new building will contain facilities for exhibitions, collections, representation functions, offices, as well as a bookshop with auxiliary spaces.

The purpose of the competition is to find for the two existing watering tanks an implementation solution which is compatible with its unique natural, cultural and archaeological environment and which achieves a balance between the stated aesthetic, functional, technical and economic targets while adhering to the principles of sustainable development.

The competition is an open international call for ideas. Participants must be licensed to practice architect's or engineer's profession in their own countries. Entrants may be individuals or teams, in the latter case it is necessary to indicate a team leader.

The proposals shall be prepared in the Italian language.
